ATTENDANCE

Since we are beginning a new semester, it is a good time to remind students and parents that attendance matters. For high school classes, there are seat time requirements in addition to academic responsibilities.

Things parents can do to help are to

- schedule appointments after school hours or on weekends
- schedule so that if a student has to miss, they only miss a portion of a day rather than the whole day
- plan vacations when school is not in session

Things students can do to help are to

- contact their teacher by email or through Google Classroom to turn in assignments rather than waiting until they return
- meet with their teachers to schedule times to make up tests or quizzes and then keep those appointments
- sign up for Attendance Recovery sessions if you know that you have missed too many days
